MEDIA RELEASE

Step Up Your Walking Game with Walking Trails@CDC Explore, Play, Bond, and Win Rewards!

Looking for a fun way to get active, spend quality time with loved ones, and discover new places in your neighbourhood? From journeying to different iconic landmarks across Singapore, to discovering rich heritage and obscure facts, to enjoying a gamified twist while keeping active, residents can come together to enjoy a new programme, aimed at strengthening the community spirit and building greater social cohesion in Singapore.

2 The five Community Development Councils (CDCs), in collaboration with the Government Technology Agency of Singapore (GovTech Singapore), have launched Walking Trails@CDC — an exciting new programme that transforms your routine health and wellness activities into interactive adventures filled with challenges and rewards!

3 Walking Trails@CDC was officially launched on 16 August 2025 at Assumption Pathway School. The event was graced by Mr Edwin Tong, Minister for Law and Second Minister for Home Affairs, and Deputy Chairman (DC) of the People's Association, alongside the five mayors: Ms Low Yen Ling, Mr Alex Yam (Host Mayor), Mr Baey Yam Keng, Mr Dinesh Vasu Dash, and Ms Denise Phua Lay Peng. DC Mr Edwin Tong also gave a speech at the event. Details of the speech will be sent separately.

Blending Health and Discovery

4 Walking Trails@CDC is not your typical stroll. It is a vibrant, fresh, and innovative “phygital” experience that combines physical activity with interactive digital challenges. Designed to promote active living in line with the national Healthier SG initiative—which focuses on preventive health and community wellness—this programme inspires Singaporeans to stay active, explore their communities, and bond with family and friends, all while earning rewards. The initiative aligns with the CDCs’ commitment to building Healthy and Inclusive Communities, and highlights how CDCs support the national agenda with community-level initiatives to rally the public to participate actively.

5 Featuring five uniquely curated trails, with one trail located in each district, participants can explore, access and immerse in iconic local landmarks, park connectors and transport nodes. While experiencing the Walking Trails@CDC across Singapore, residents will visit checkpoints such as Bukit Timah Railway Station, Little Guilin, Fort Canning Centre, East Coast Beach, and Punggol Promenade Bridge, to name a few. Each trail showcases the rich culture, heritage, and green spaces of the district. CDC will actively seek feedback from the public and explore the possibility of introducing more trails to enhance the user experience.

Building Community Spirit

6 To mark SG60 and build on Singapore's strong social fabric, CDC aims to use the Walking Trails@CDC as a platform to Connect different segments of society and bring the community closer, providing opportunity for families, friends and social groups to come together and bond over a novel and engaging experience.

7 Mdm Sharon Koh, 47, and her son, Mr Sean Ng, 22, have long cherished their weekly walks with the North West Brisk Walking Club. With the launch of Walking Trails@CDC, they are excited to share this new programme with family and friends, offering a fun and rewarding way to discover new places, strengthen their bond, and promote wellbeing for all ages.

Meet the CDC Ollies — Your Digital Trail Buddies!

8 Adding a playful and interactive twist to the experience are the “CDC Ollies,” five charming digital mascots that bring the trails to life. Each CDC Ollie embodies one of the CDCs’ five community pillars:

- Trailblazer Ollie (Caring)
- Social Ollie (Learning)
- Carefree Ollie (Inclusive)
- Wellness Ollie (Healthy)
- Chic-Eco Ollie (Sustainable)

9 The CDC Ollies not only enrich the experience of the trails but also deepen participants’ connection with the community and better align the public with the values that the CDCs champion. Collecting the CDC Ollies unlocks additional rewards and adds extra fun to the adventure.

Earn Rewards as You Walk

10 To encourage active participation, the programme offers up to $10 in RedeemSG Rewards vouchers per trail. The first 5,000 participants on each trail who complete all five checkpoints or collect all five CDC Ollies in the Side Quest will receive a $5 RedeemSG Rewards voucher respectively. These vouchers can be spent at a variety of participating supermarkets, further enriching the experience.
